Alumni News Spotlights

Hall of History Spotlight: Amanda Sobhy '15, Women's Squash

Harvard women's squash alumna Amanda Sobhy '15 was an extraordinary student-athlete for the Crimson, never losing a collegiate match on her way to winning four individual national championships. Sobhy then embarked on a professional career in which she has established herself as the preeminent American player on the global stage – winning five U.S. national titles and becoming the first American-born player to reach the top five in the Professional Squash Association (PSA) world rankings. | READ MORE

Baseball Alumni Reunite as Pitchers and Catchers Report to Blue Jays Spring Training

As pitchers and catchers reported for spring training for the Toronto Blue Jays, a trio of Harvard University baseball alumni -- Jon Morosi '04, Frank Herrmann '06, and Jake McGuiggan '15 – reunited in Dunedin, Florida. | Read the story

About the Harvard Varsity Club

- WATCH THE VIDEO NOW

No matter the sport. Or the era.

No matter the gender. Or the race.

Special teams all share one thing in common: a bond.

A feeling of camaraderie, of brotherhood or sisterhood that lasts more than a season, or even an entire college career. It lasts a lifetime.

Since 1886, the Harvard Varsity Club has been a special team. Through events and programs, the Varsity Club celebrates, supports and connects Harvard athletes and their families, past and present, while preserving the traditions and fostering the ideals of Harvard Athletics.

Harvard Varsity Club. 'Your Team for Life[®].'
